

Emergency Closing

The College retains the right to alter the business and class hours if conditions exist that may threaten the health, safety, or welfare of students and personnel. Every effort will be made in such cases to notify students and personnel, as appropriate. Such changes will be announced by website, email, text, major television and radio stations.