

CIST 2921: It Analysis Design & Project Management

IT Analysis, Design, and Project Management will provides a review and application of systems life cycle development methodologies and project management. Topics include: Systems planning, systems analysis, systems design, systems implementation, evaluation, and project management

Credits: 4

Program: Computer Information Systems